Counterparty Risk	The Fund is exposed to risks arising from solvency of its counterparties (e.g. custodian, broker, banks) and their ability to respect the conditions of contracts or transactions.
Liquidity Risk	Liquidity risk occurs when certain securities in a fund's portfolio may be difficult or impossible to sell at a particular time, which may prevent the redemption of investment in a fund until its assets can be converted to cash.

Foreign Currency Risk	The value of investments may be affected by fluctuations in the exchange rates of securities in a different currency other than the base currency of the Fund.

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

(from the BlackRock BGF European Equity Income Fund Early Bird Bullets dated December 31, 2020)

Performance Overview:

European markets rose modestly in December as investors' positive reactions to continued vaccine news flow outweighed the likely near-term impact of renewed travel restrictions and lockdowns.

The Target Fund modestly underperformed the benchmark driven by sector allocation.

Sectors:

The portfolio's underweight to materials was the biggest headwind for relative performance as industrial metals prices rose during the month.

Underweight allocations to IT and consumer discretionary also weighed on returns as these sectors outperformed the index.

The underweight position in consumer staples was positive, but insufficient to offset the negative effects of the positions described above.

Stocks:

Positions in utility companies EDP and Orsted were the biggest contributors to returns. Both companies should benefit from US Congress announcing a spending package which will extend tax credits for renewable energy sources such as offshore wind and solar. Orsted also announced the sale of a 50% stake in one of its wind farms off the coast of Taiwan in a deal worth approximately $2.7bn to the company.

UK listed motor insurance business Direct Line also contributed to performance. The Fund Manager is attracted to the company's stable and high returns, solid pricing, and they believe it will benefit from recent investment in its IT platform. The shares likely benefitted from positive bid sentiment in the wake of competitor Admiral's sale of its price comparison business.

ASML also aided performance. The catalyst was likely a release from an auto OEM stating that there are large supply bottlenecks in the electric components required in the manufacture their vehicles. This adds to information gleaned from several auto suppliers and smartphone manufacturers who had also stated that semiconductor supply was tight.

The portfolio also benefitted from not owning large index constituents AstraZeneca, GlaxoSmithKline, Unilever, Total, and HSBC.

Financials Scor and Nordea detracted from performance. In the case of Nordea, investors were likely disappointed at a decision by the ECB that banks should not pay dividends more than 20 basis points of their CET1 ratio until September 2021. As one of the best capitalized banks in Europe, Nordea's CET1 ratio is far more than the minimum required, but it will not be able to distribute this excess capital in the immediate future because of the ruling.

Sanofi also weighed on performance. There was limited stock specific news aside from the publication of trial results from a competitor which showed the competitor's drug to have higher efficacy than the Sanofi offering. The Fund Manager does not see this as a threat to the Sanofi franchise given Sanofi's far superior safety profile. They see absolute value in the stock, trading on 4% yield and undemanding earnings multiple with a solid management team and cost cutting opportunities.

Changes:

Following a period of relative underperformance, the Fund Manager topped up their position in Sanofi given the attractive fundamentals as described above.

The Fund Manager also made a small addition to their position in Autotrader. They continue to see this as a high returning business with dominant market share, pricing power, and opportunities in adjacent areas such as new cars, financing, and dealer productivity tools.

The Fund Manager trimmed positions in Bouygues, Vodafone, Nordea, and Kering to fund these additions.

Positioning:

At the end of the month the Target Fund was overweight utilities, industrials, communication services, and financials.

The Fund Manager is currently underweight consumer staples, materials, energy, consumer discretionary, healthcare, and IT.
