OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

(from the BlackRock BGF World Financial Fund Early Bird Bullets dated December 31, 2020)

December 2020 Market Review:

Global equities continued to advance in December, with the MSCI ACWI returning 4.6% in USD terms, bringing YTD performance to 16.3%.

The coronavirus outlook showed some early signs of improvement, however, concern soon shifted towards a more contagious variant of COVID-19, which resulted in immediate and firmer lockdown measures being imposed over the Christmas period across many parts of Europe.

Progress was made with many of the EU countries beginning the rollout of the approved Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine. In addition to this, British regulators authorized the vaccine developed by Oxford and AstraZeneca for use in the UK.

There was positive news on Brexit, with Boris Johnson and Ursula von der Leyen confirming that a trade deal had been agreed between Britain and the EU. The deal covers the free trade of goods and the new measures will be provisionally enforced until the European Parliament officially sign off.

US equities led the market, however all regions positively contributed to returns

From a sector perspective, Information Technology, Financials and Consumer Discretionary generated the greatest returns to performance, with all sectors in MSCI ACWI Index contributing positively in December.

Performance Overview:

The Target Fund significantly outperformed the benchmark in December by returning +7.8%, net of A2 fees, compared to the +5.3% return for the index. During the month, the overweight to and stock selection within the consumer finance industry was the top relative contributor to performance. Additionally, the Target Fund's exposure to FinTech companies within the IT Services industry also contributed to relative performance.

The top relative detractor to performance was mainly due to stock selection within the diversified financial services industry. In a rising market, a modest cash balance (<3%) had a slight drag on relative performance.

Stocks:

Stepstone, an alternative asset solutions provider, was the top relative contributor during the month. The stock continued its strong performance run since their initial public offering in September 2020.

Kaspikz (Kaspi), the largest Payments, Marketplace and Fintech Ecosystem in Kazakhstan, was also a strong relative contributor in December. The company benefitted from a strong rally in FinTech stocks during the month.

AXA, a French multinational insurance firm, was a leading detractor during the period. While the stock was positive for the month, it lagged the broader index due to an Investor Day presentation that did not significantly exceed expectations.

Alliance Data Systems (ADS) was another relative detractor in December due to announcing guidance that fell short of investor expectations.

Changes:

There were multiple stock level changes during the month including two SPAC additions. This included Paysafe (via Foley Trasimene Acquisition Corp), which is a global payments company. It also included Billtrust (via South Mountain Merger Corp), which is a provider of accounts receivable (AR) software and payment processing solutions that simplify and automate B2B payments.

To make room for these additions, the Target Fund sold stocks that have performed very well in the recent environment. The Target Fund sold positions in Green Dot, a U.S.-based provider of prepaid cards, Tyro Payments, an Australian-based payments company, Hiscox, a specialist insurer, and China Merchants Bank.

Outlook and Positioning:

The Fund Manager sees a strong economic recovery in 2021 if the COVID-19 virus is under control. This should be driven by pent up demand as well as a remarkable combination of monetary and fiscal support. The Fed and other central banks around the world have cut policy rates to historically low levels and expanded quantitative easing to an extent not witnessed before. More importantly, governments have embarked on the most aggressive fiscal expansion that we have seen.

The Target Fund is tactically positioned to benefit from a recovering economy via its overweight exposure to undervalued consumer credit companies in developed markets which are not particularly rate sensitive.

The Fund Manager sees a continued rally in the equity market driven by the potent combination of economic recovery, fiscal expansion, and ultra-low interest rates.

The Target Fund is tactically underweight developed market banks as, broadly speaking, revenue growth will be subdued on the back of lower margins (particularly US$ based banks driven by lower rates) and anemic loan growth.

Structurally, the Fund Manager is overweight FinTech due to faster top line growth with less earnings cyclicality driven by secular digitalization trends and the forecast of longer-term disruption.

The Fund Manager is also structurally overweight Emerging Markets due to cheap valuations, faster top line and bottom-line growth and long-term structural growth associated with financial inclusion.
