KEY RISKS AND RISK MANAGEMENT

You should not invest in this Fund if you do not understand or are not comfortable with the accompanying risks.

Market Risk	Factors (e.g. macroeconomic developments, political conditions) that affect the overall performance of financial markets may lead to lower prices of securities and losses for investors.
Counterparty Risk	The Fund is exposed to risks arising from solvency of its counterparties (e.g. custodian, broker, banks) and their ability to respect the conditions of contracts or transactions.
Liquidity Risk	Liquidity risk occurs when certain securities in a fund's portfolio may be difficult or impossible to sell at a particular time, which may prevent the redemption of investment in a fund until its assets can be converted to cash.
Reinvestment Risk	When income is received from the investments, or when the investments are sold and reinvested, there is a risk that the return would be lower than the return realized previously.
Foreign Currency Risk	The value of investments may be affected by fluctuations in the exchange rates of securities in a different currency other than the base currency of the Fund.
Country Risk	The Fund may suffer losses arising from investments in securities issued by/in foreign countries due to political, economic and social structures of such countries.

- THE UIT FUND IS NOT A DEPOSIT AND IS NOT INSURED BY THE PHILIPPINE DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION (PDIC).

Legal and Tax Risk The interpretation and implementation of laws and regulations are constantly changing and they may change with retroactive effect. There is no certainty that investors will be compensated for any damage or loss incurred as a result of legal or regulatory changes.

Equity Risk The Fund investments mainly in equity securities, the prices of which fluctuate daily, sometimes dramatically, which could result in significant losses.

Region Risk The Fund invests solely in US markets which increases potential volatility. US markets have structural problems and may affect future prospects.

Capitalization Risk The Fund is focused on shares that have small to middle sized capitalization. Shares of this size have less liquidity and more uncertainty as to their growth potential. Sales and market gains could be less favorable than other equities.

Active risk management has been core to the portfolio discipline and firm of the Target Fund's Investment Manager, Franklin Templeton Investments Corp., a member of the Franklin Templeton Group. They approach risk management holistically: It encompasses their underlying fund operations, investment lifecycle activities, and portfolio stress testing and analysis. Each of these efforts is underpinned by their firm's core investment strategy and approach. Most of the Franklin Templeton portfolios are constructed using a bottom-up security selection process with a keen eye on the macroeconomic factors at work. Investment selection is driven by fundamental, research-driven analysis. In constructing portfolios, they look carefully at diversification, investment correlation, macroeconomic outlook, and benchmark alignment, where appropriate.

Investors should be aware and understand that all investments involve risk and that there is no guarantee against losses on investments made in the Fund. The Fund Manager employs strategies to mitigate risks, however, there is no assurance that no loss will be incurred.

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

(from the FTIF Franklin U.S. Opportunities Fund Manager Report dated December 31, 2020)

In the information technology sector, Apple has profited during the pandemic from consumers working from home and needing new digital tools. The technology giant has also seen strong growth in its wearables and services businesses. While Apple is one of the Target Fund's top holdings, their underweight compared to the benchmark's significant position pressured relative performance.

In the health care sector, heightened competition in the race to develop a COVID-19 vaccine weighed on the shares of Novavax, which has lagged other vaccine makers following several manufacturing delays.

In the consumer discretionary sector, at-home fitness products company Peloton announced its acquisition of a commercial fitness equipment provider to help increase production capacity to respond to the surge in demand since the pandemic. The Fund Manager believe Peloton has room for expansion into newer European markets and the introduction of a lower-priced treadmill product can be a boost for subscriber growth.

As we end the year, several prominent vaccines have been rolled out that should lift the dark cloud of COVID-19 that has overshadowed most of 2020. Equity markets have shown remarkable resilience since the pandemic-induced recession began in March. Even as their optimism builds, the Fund Manager maintains a cautiously optimistic outlook for the near term.

Currently, the Fund Manager sees drivers of value creation across all industries, particularly in health care, fintech (financial technology), consumer retail, and manufacturing. The firms on the forefront have been showing they understand the state of their businesses and can meet their customers' needs faster than ever, leading the way in very dynamic business environments. They are taking note of what companies have learned from their operations under the pandemic and how they might apply those lessons to their businesses over the longer term.

The Fund Manager believes the broad digital transformation that has been taking place will continue to accelerate. Companies that have embraced digital transformation as a key enabler of their businesses should deliver greater performance over the long run, in their view. They do not see this changing as they see digital transformation and its associated sub-themes continuing to gain relevance as we move into a post-pandemic world.

In the current environment, the importance of thoughtful, skilled fundamental analysis cannot be emphasized enough. The Fund Manager believes nimble and diversified positioning and active asset selection are crucial to any successful investment strategy. While they out hope for a return to normality in 2021, they stand ready to respond to any volatility by seeking to capitalize on the potential opportunities that may result.
